COUNTY TO HONOR EMPLOYEE EXCELLENCE

Advancements in community-based policing, a volunteer-based elections team that oversaw the 2016 presidential vote and work that is helping secure Davenport's water future will be honored Tuesday by the Board of Supervisors during the County's annual Employee Recognition Awards ceremony.

Each year, the County recognizes outstanding work by employees or groups of employees in five categories: General Government, Health Services, Human Services, Justice and Land Use and Regulatory. Gold, silver and bronze awards are handed out in each category, with Gold Award winners' names placed on a plaque that is displayed in the County Government Center.

"Our employees are some of the most creative, resourceful and dedicated public servants anywhere," Board Chair John Leopold said. "Once again, we are proud to recognize their accomplishments and work on behalf of the residents of Santa Cruz County."

Awards will be given during the Board of Supervisors' regularly scheduled meeting on Tuesday, March 7, 9 a.m., 701 Ocean St., Santa Cruz.
